UNIVERSITY OF MANNHEIM

Basic Features

- This is a basic slide, starting with a `##` title.

- You can wrap citations `[@some_author]` in another pair of brackets and add cite-class `[[@some_author]]{.cite}` to make the citations smaller.

- If you want single slides with little content, you can do that in a code-block and a v-center-class to center the content.

template.qmd
1  ::: {.v-center}
2
3  Some centered content here.
5  :::

- If you have some citations in your slides, add the `{.smallest}` class to your literature slide and the bibliography should be displayed without any overflow.

- And here is a nice fact with a cool comment [@some_author].

More Information

- If you have further questions feel free to to check out the quarto documentation, specifically revealjs.

- The quarto-cli community has also already answered the questions you might have in an issue or discussion! For example, check out how to add fontawesome icons to your quarto slides.

- And if that does not help, you could submit an issue here and maybe I can help you out.

Literature

This only gets small if there are citations here...

The bibliography will be displayed here.

Some author and their book/paper.

The list goes on.
